CSR: Letter from the management

"Responsible conduct involves respecting the interests of our employees, customers and shareholders.

In line with this, our main goal is to leverage our company's unique capabilities in supporting environmental and social causes and improve our competitive context at the same time. We can contribute to overall societal wealth by considering the effect we have on the world at large when making decisions

In 2020 we have realigned our corporate responsibility strategy to reflect a shared value approach in order to create a long-lasting added value for both our company and society and also narrowed the focus of four strategic scopes of our activity: environment, labour and human rights, ethics and sustainable procurement"

Josep Ma. Borràs
CEO

Infinitec´s responsible commitments

The drive to constantly improve has been the bedrock of Infinitec culture since its inception in 2006.

Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) is seen by our company as an opportunity to grow and to help lead the change towards a more sustainable world, by blending economic, environmental, and socially responsible objectives.

This effort has recently led to the development of a number of socially responsible commitments towards the environment and people.

As starting point, our CSR approach has been validated by the EcoVadis platform, which has awarded the company by a Silver status with a score of 46/100.

In order to establish a roadmap, to structure its processes and strengthen our future commitments, Infinitec has assembled in 2020 an new in-house, cross-functional working group tasked with clarifying its CSR framework, along with its action plan and implementation in the years to come.

One of our priority actions in order to limit the company's environmental impact, is to eventually undergo ISO 14001 / EMAS certification for our headquarters' site of Montornes del Valles (Barcelona, Spain) where the main production facility is located.

In accordance to Infinitec's responsible procurement policy, our company has then decided to evaluate its strategic suppliers via the EcoVadis platform to ensure they follow and respect its responsible procurement charter as they play an essential role in our supply chain and must be aligned with its own CSR approach.

Actions regarding energy consumption, GHG issues and to formalize process in place in order to assess and document environmental risks is one of the main priorities Infinitec has identified.

For 2021, the company will structure its CRS policy by formalising its plan and objectives.

Infinitec doing business across the world in more than 30 countries is therefore essential that its social policy is well undertaken within its communities.
